ABOUT US

Action Aid Intervention for Development Organization (AAIDO) Operating in Northern & Southern Liech States in South Sudan where the household food security remains based primarily on subsistence agriculture and livestock. The states are seriously hit by the current conflict and according to humanitarian's report, about 250,000 people are estimated to be food insecure and some hundred thousand other were also reported to be not accessing basic primary health care, nutrition centers and most probably drinking water. AAIDO is coming joining the Humanitarians world to help promote peace building through conflict mitigation, GBV awareness, Child protection/general protection, Youth and sport, Education, Women and human rights, Health, Food security/ livelihood and Nutrition.

With the hope of peace returning in the country any time soon the rebuilding of the traditional livelihoods that had broken down after years of fighting. However, returning IDPs and refugees, as well as resident communities, are facing low availability of agricultural inputs and services for crops and livestock, poor quality healthcare and education, human rights violation or GBV abuse which is on the rise, inadequate infrastructure and fragmented markets. Clearly the restoration of livelihoods has had setbacks. Fighting among tribes and sub-clans, and the resulting displacements,

Destruction and deaths, have hindered the early recovery process. Political uncertainty associated with new civil structures, continued low level inter- and intra-tribal conflicts, new displacements, limited protection of civilians, drought and high food commodity prices, are the norm, rather than the exception.

AREAS OF OPERATION

Northern & Southern Liech States ( Manyindit, Mayom, Leer, Panyinjar, Koch, Guit, Rubkona and Abiemnom)

To cite a few of these situations in Manyiendit, Leer, Guit, Rubkona and Koch counties suffered from a series of tribal conflicts, cattle rustling, drought, civil insecurity, leading to inaccessibility to most areas.

These situations resulted into high percentages of moderately or severely food insecure populations, trauma, protection risk, GBV/woman and human right abuse, inadequate or little access to health care, tribal or inter-clan conflict, lack of education, this need critical attention to enhance their recovery from the shocks.

AAIDO is aiming to promote community resilience to overcome distractive conflicts through peace and conflict mitigation in the state, community potential for socio-economic recovery, Food security & Livelihood/training of farmers, awareness on human rights, protection awareness/, supporting the youths through sporting activities, providing primary healthcare and nutrition to the children, pregnant and lactating mothers, promote girl child education, engage local community to positively involve in community peace building and local democracy. Currently the Organization have their representatives in eight counties of Unity state, ( Maygiandit, Mayom, Leer, Payinjar, Koch, Guit, Rubkona and Abiemnon.)

RATIONALE:

There is a lot of scope that need to be addressed in greater Unity State as there were many poor and needy who are not been managing to afford to pay their children school fees and the fruit of development is not reaching them. All the benefits are being taken to them by the higher castes and rich which are influential in every field of this area. The officials have to dance according to their tunes otherwise they will be running trauma or taking serious action on them. To escape from that situation, the Action Aid Intervention for Development Organization (AAIDO) is ready to give the capacity building skill to needy communities through vocational training on agricultural, business, toiler, carpentry and computer skills according to AAIDO aims and objectives of it

AAIDO formed mainly to reach out the poor and affected communities of the society which are being suppressed by the most massive destructive crise.
